

In the Abstract, please add the Abstract as follows:

ABSTRACT

In a wireless picturephone system and device, a method is shown for alerting a message recipient of a picture or video message transmitted from a message center. The alert in one embodiment includes a stored sound or textual data such as a name or other useful information associated with data that identifies the message originator.